Water Board Wants Input for Measures to Share Ballot With POWR

Water Board solicits public participation in setting ballot measures for March 4, 1997 election; sets six-month water supply goals.

At an October 28, 1996 special meeting on strategic planning, the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) Board unanimously took the following action:

* Determined that it is not appropriate for the Board, its staff, nor any Board-appointed committee to be formally involved in preparing written arguments against the initiative ordinance established by the "Protect Our Water Resources (POWR) group, not the District. Citizens interested in writing arguments against the initiative should contact the Registrar of Voters. On October 21, the Board determined that the initiative ordinance would be the subject of an election on March 4, 1997. The initiative ordinance would impose more rigorous controls on water for remodels and new or changing water uses.

* Determined that a 7-member ad hoc committee (one person appointed by each Board member) should categorize suggested ballot measures for the March 4 ballot and develop specific language for each category. Public input is encouraged. The District is accepting suggestions for items to be considered as ballot measures until 9 a.m. on November 6,

OBITUARIES

VIRGINIA HARRIS BURK

Virginia Harris Burk, a resident of Carmel for 66 years, died on October 24, 1996 at the age of 94.

She was a pharmacist who at age 17 was the youngest person to pass the Tennessee Board of Pharmacy. She bought the Carmel Drug Store in 1931.

Ms. Burk belonged to the Friends of the Monterey Institute, the Monterey Historical Society, Altrusa International of the Monterey Peninsula, the Abalone Club, Alliance Frances, Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority and the Soroptimist Club.

Survivors are daughters Joan Murphy of Phoenix, Diana Vickery of Golden, Co., five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Arrangements were under the direction of the Paul Mortuary.

Memorial contributions are suggested to the Monterey Rape Crisis Center, the Salvation Army and the Mental Health Association.

New Legislation Effects Seniors

The Older Californians Act, the centerpiece of public policy for seniors in California, has been rewritten and updated. Signed into law by Governor Wilson on September 30th, the act is a comprehensive rewrite of the law governing dozens of services provided to seniors in California, including home-delivered and congregate meals programs, the senior companion program, and the health insurance and counseling advocacy program, among others. The original law regarding seniors was written in 1980 and has not been completely updated until now.

Seniors throughout the state have worked together in rewriting this historic legislation. The Older Californians Act also implements the federal Older Americans Act. The new law will give a boost to home and community based services. The new law is intended to build incentives for the integration of many diverse programs into a coordinated package, delivered by Area Agencies on Aging, at the local level.

Kalah Bumba, a gerontologist and the planner for the Monterey County Area Agencies on Aging, was delighted when she heard that the Governor had signed the bill. "It's about time", Bumba claimed. "We've been dealing with fragmented services until now."

The act was sponsored by a coalition of senior groups including the California Senior Legislature and the Commission on Aging. Authored by Senator Henry Mello, the bill will take effect on January 1, 1997.

John McCune, a retired U.S. Army Colonel living in Carmel, and the vice president of the California Commission on Aging reports, "This bill is a result of integrated advocacy efforts throughout the state where different constituencies put aside their self interest for the good of all seniors in California."

"Services will be more effective and everyone will benefit", according to Seymour "Les" Lesser, chair of the local Older Americans Advisory Council.

Counseling Center Opens in Carmel

In May, 1996 a new mental health asset began to operate in Carmel. Without great fanfare, the Calyx Center, a sliding-fee-scale community counseling center, began providing professional psychotherapy and related services in space at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Dolores at Ninth.

Individual, couples and group counseling are among therapies provided by Calyx staff.

Two special group programs are being launched in November and December. A support group of parents of runaway teens will begin on November 6. On December 4, a focused therapy group for Parents Abused as Children will have its first session. Both of these groups will be led by John Adams, M.F.C.C., who is the Calyx Center's Clinical Director, and Maggie Shimpfky, L.C.S.W., a trained social worker and Calyx staff member.

Inquiries about either program should be directed to 622-8422, the Calyx Center's confidential line.

North Pole Postmark for the Holidays

You receive a Christmas card in the mail postmarked North Pole, Alaska. Neat! But how did the sender of the letter, who lives in the desert of Arizona, obtain this special cancellation?

It's easy, providing you motivate yourself to put your cards in the mail by December 3.

All you need to do is address and seal your cards and letters as usual, and affix stamps. Then, you gather them all together in one package and mail the package (preferably by first-class or priority mail) to: North Pole Cancellations, US Postal Service, 5400 Mail Trail, Fairbanks, Alaska 99709-9998.

Enclose a letter requesting the special North Pole cancellation.

In Alaska your package will be opened and all the letters and cards will receive the North Pole, Alaska cancellation. The letters will then enter the mail stream and will be delivered to the addresses before Christmas. Neat!

Star Hair Design Grand Opening

Melanie Domenico held her grand opening party for Star Hair Design on October 4, 1996. Star Hair Design is located at #1 Village Center in front of the Chatterbox restaurant. The opening was well attended and featured Harpist Serena Underwood, a photography exhibit by Ben Fahrer and an art exhibit by Gabriel Tiradani.

Star Hair Design will hold a free "Jazz in the Street" event in late spring featuring Serena Underwood and her daughters playing live jazz.

Carmel Garden Club Raising Funds to Restore Park

Carmel-by-the-Sea Garden Club introduces Three-year Garden Diary to Launch Fund Raising Campaign for the Restoration of Piccadilly Park.

On November 3, the fund raising campaign for the restoration of Carmel's Piccadilly Park was launched at the La Playa Hotel in Carmel. This reception introduced "A Three-Year Diary for the California Gardener" which the club has published. Sales proceeds from the Diary will benefit the Piccadilly Park project.

The purpose in publishing the diary is to assist California gardeners in becoming better educated about horticulture and their own gardening achievements. Personal observations recorded over the years help the advanced, as well as the novice gardener, to become more aware of plant material and its relationship to soil types, weather and cultural requirements.

A talented member of the Garden Club created all of the original illustrations; a committee researched the horticultural information contained within the diary; and Bunne Hartmann, of Hartmann Design Studio, contributed invaluable time in design, layout and production. The Diary sells for $20, including tax, and is available at local bookstores, florists, garden and gift shops. For more information, or to order a diary, call 625-6467.

The Carmel-by-the-Sea Garden Club was formed in 1979 by a group of women who shared a love of gardening, a desire to learn more about horticulture and a wish to contribute to their community. In 1986 the Carmel-by-the-Sea Garden Club affiliated with the Garden Club of America, which is dedicated to stimulating the knowledge and love of gardening and whose members work to improve the quality of the environment through education and action in the fields of conservation and civic improvement.

Throughout the years of the Club's existence, members have contributed to civic improvements, garden restoration and preservation, horticulture, conservation and environmental education.

Donations toward the re-landscaping of Piccadilly Park are tax deductible and may be made to the Carmel-by-the-Sea Garden Club Trust Fund, P. O. Box 1972, Carmel-by-the-Sea, 93921.

Carmel Red Cross Temporarily Closes Shelter

The American Red Cross, Carmel-by-the-Sea Chapter, temporarily closed the shelter at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel because the care and shelter needs of all those evacuated from their homes in the Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park have been met. Should more evacuations take place and the need arise to shelter people displaced from their homes, the Carmel Chapter will reopen the shelter at that time. This was the third American Red Cross Shelter opened for fire victims of Big Sur area fires this month. American Red Cross volunteers from the Carmel-by-the-Sea Chapter, with the assistance of neighboring Chapters, will continue to assure that the needs of evacuees and victims are met.

Mary Wright, District Superintendent, California State Parks, said, "We will look after the care and shelter needs of our own employees who need to be relocated due to the October 24 evacuation order for Big Sur Pfeiffer State Park as a result of the fire conditions." Dan Priano, the general manager of the Big Sur Lodge said, "The lodge will be handling our own sheltering needs regarding the evacuation order for Big Sur Pfeiffer State Park. We appreciate the assistance of the American Red Cross in sheltering our employees and their families."

All Red Cross disaster assistance is free to those in need. It is made possible by voluntary gifts of time and money from the American people. Those wishing to aid the Carmel Chapter in defraying the expenses of sheltering and feeding may do so by sending a check for disaster relief to the "American Red Cross, Carmel Chapter" at P. O. Box AR, Carmel, Ca. 93921.

The Monterey Peninsula College Department of Dance presents an "Evening of Contemporary Dance", Friday and Saturday, November 8 and 9 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, November 10 at 2 p.m. on the College's main stage theatre.

The evening will be a combination of new works by local choreographers and faculty members of the College as well as choreographers who are new to the MPC stage.

Included in the concert will be dances by Tomiko Viera, Dawn Sare and Jacquie Boomer-Adams of the MPC dance faculty, with guest choreographers Olava Menczkowski and Fran Spector.

Olava Menczkowski was raised on the Monterey Peninsula and is a resident of Carmel. She is currently teaching dance at Hidden Valley Music Seminars. She possesses both a BA and MA in Dance. Water Management District Activities Update

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District Board, at its October 21, 1996 meeting:

1. Agreed to consider rescission of Ordinance No. 84 at the November 18, 1996 board meeting. At the closed session of October 21, the Board directed staff to develop an ordinance for presentation at the November 18 meeting rescinding Ordinance No. 84 which had previously authorized the allocation of 150 acre-feet of water made available through operation of the CAWD/PBCSD WRP (Wastewater Reclamation Project). The motion to consider rescission of Ordinance No. 84 was approved on a vote of 4-2. Directors Ely, Ernst, Haddad and Hughes in support and Burkleo and Pendergrass opposed. Director Karas was absent.

2. "POWR" initiative ordinance not adopted by board - set for March 4, 1997, mail ballot election.

The Board unanimously agreed not to adopt the "POWR" initiative ordinance, but instead scheduled it for a public vote in a March 4, 1997 mail ballot election. The Board also discussed establishing ad hoc committees, including members of the public.

3. Approved applications to annex Laguna Seca Ranch Subdivision into the Bishop Water Company Service Area.

The Bishop Water Company and the California-American Water Company submitted an application to annex the Laguna Seca Ranch Subdivision into the Bishop Water Company Service Area. A joint application was filed because Cal-Am has petitioned the Public Utilities Commission for ownership and operation of Bishop Water Company. Annexing the Laguna Seca Ranch Subdivision into the Bishop Water Company service area will increase the total number of connections allowed within the Bishop service area from 194 to 454. The total water production limit is increased from 200 to 295 acre-feet per year. The EIR prepared for the Laguna Seca Ranch Subdivision and certified by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors determined that sufficient groundwater exists on the Laguna Seca Ranch property to serve the proposed subdivision. If the PUC approves Cal-Am's request for operation of Bishop Water Company, the Laguna Seca Subdivision will not be served by the main Cal-Am system, even in an emergency. The Laguna Seca Ranch property lies outside of the Monterey Peninsula Water Resources System, and is not subject to SWRCB Order No. WR 95-10.

* Directed staff to develop a draft policy statement regarding allocation of water previously set aside for drought protection and water conservation savings.

A draft policy statement will be presented at the November 18 Board meeting that would prevent future allocation of water previously set aside for drought protection or water conservation. The policy will address the portion of the annual yield from the Paralta Well in the Seaside Coastal Basin that was set aside for drought protection (358 acre-feet), the remainder of the District's share of the CAWD/PBCSD WRP that was set aside to meet the District's long term water conservation goal (270 acre-feet), and the water conservation savings that have accrued since the District's water conservation program began in 1987 (approximately 1800 acre-feet). The issue of designating a community reserve for future expansion of the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula should be decided after a determination is made on whether or not Ordinance No. 84, allocating 150 acre-feet of water from the reclamation project, will remain in force.

* Directed staff to prepare Ordinance No. 85 defining the rules and standards for the District's toilet retrofit rebate program for first reading at the November 18 Board meeting.

The ordinance will outline a program whereby the District will reimburse a property owner up to $100 per toilet retrofit for the verified cost of the toilet, seat, supply line,

YOUR WORLD AND MINE

by Araby Colton

HEY! LOOK AT ME!

It's an interesting excursion, sometimes, to think about our biological inheritance. Just what have we inherited from our ancestors?

We're primates. That means we're part of the order primates, which includes man, the apes, and monkeys ... we're most closely related to the chimpanzees and gorillas.

And what are they like, these great-grandfathers of ours?

The gorilla, that huge, intimidating fellow, is, according to Robert Ardrey, a "gentle, inoffensive, submissive creature for whom a minimum of tyranny yields a maximum of results."

Says Irvn de Vere, "He is a mild mannered vegetarian who likes to mind his own business ... lives in a state of mild and amiable serenity ... females nestle against him, infants crawl happily over his huge body. When a band of gorillas is at rest, the young play, the mothers tend their infants, and the other adults lie at peace and soak up the sun."

And chimpanzees? Says Ardrey, "The amiable chimpanzee seems to found his society on nothing very much but his own good nature ... The chimp is the only primate who has achieved that Arcadian existence of primal innocence which we once believed was the paradise that man had somehow left ..."

And how does this idyllic society work? How is it structured, if it is?

Both chimpanzee and gorilla societies are centripetal. That is, they have a center, a leader. He's the law, the justice system, the protector.

And how does he maintain his - dominance, this gentle leader?

Curiously enough, by his ability to command attention. Primatologists call it "display" ... showing off.

The gorilla can put on an earth-shaking display, from deafening hoots to tearing up whole trees. The chimps bounce around and shake branches, pick up interesting objects to show off to their fellows, who cluster around to see what it is, and that they're going to do with it.

Consider any children's playground. Shouts of "Look at me! Look what I've got! Hey! I can stand on my head!"

This dominance mode has promoted social interaction, gathering to observe, to admire, to share. Among the chimpanzees much grooming takes place, fondling, chattering, group excitement. We can credit our very humanity, our awareness of each other, our sensitivities, our speech itself, to this "Look at me!"

No wonder it is easy to teach tricks to captive chimps. Every new trick increases his ability to attract attention. Even human eyes add to his status, to his self-satisfaction.

Perhaps our space program, so shockingly expensive, is our way of saying, "Look at us! We put a man on the moon!"

It's too bad the nations haven't been satisfied with the display behavior of our relatives, the gorillas and chimpanzees, that we have resorted to the baboon method of bullying and biting to keep our fellow humans in their place.

We could be saying, "Look at us! We've got houses for all our people!" or "Hey! Look at us! We've got good health care for everyone!"

Perhaps, with luck and more effort from us chimp types, we'll persuade our leaders to catch up with the chimpanzees.

(The above is cribbed, shamelessly, from one of my favorite books, British naturalist Elaine Morgan's, "The Descent of Woman.")

WHAT'S NEXT? Mel Vercoe

I have nothing against religions being concerned about the health and welfare of fetuses, but when said religions are so concerned that they will "make deals" at election time, giving votes to White House and congressional candidates in return for two things, (1) anti-abortion legislation, and (2) support for our ever present far-right, anti-communist paranoids in high places, who, along with contract hungry war industries are always hoping for a nice war, someplace, where we can send our young men into combat against "Godless communists", just because they happen to be "Godless", then it's time for a frank examination.

Viet Nam was a good example. There was absolutely no threat to "U.S. National Security". After the Viet Nameese had kicked out the French, just as we had kicked out the British, the Viet Nameese asked us to help them set up a government like ours.

We refused to help them, because their "George Washington", who led them to victory, might become their president, and he happened to be a communist, and for that reason, our far-right religions, and our far-right paranoids, got together and managed to get us involved in a totally senseless war in which over 58,000 young Americans died, and many thousands more were gravely injured, a terrible price to pay, just because Viet Nam's most popular presidential candidate happened to be a communist, and because of the political power of some harmless looking religions. Exactly why saving fetuses is so much more important than preventing the waste of thousands of human lives is a good question. Maybe some Bishops, shown in a news story blessing the bombs and bullets being shipped to Viet Nam, could answer that question.

LETTERS to the Editor

Marvelous Mel - No Troops in Salinas

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

In the October 24 issue, Mel Vercoe correctly decries our lack of care and concern about the national debt. Further he points out the concerns of both Eisenhower and Washington regarding the military-industrial complex. "(And, anybody got any estimates about how much crime could be abated by bringing our overseas forces home to help maintain order in some of our cities, including Salinas?)"

Marvelous, Mel. You are so worried about our nation that the solution you offer is federal troops in the streets of Salinas. What are you

DeJounge Will Keep Airport Open Space

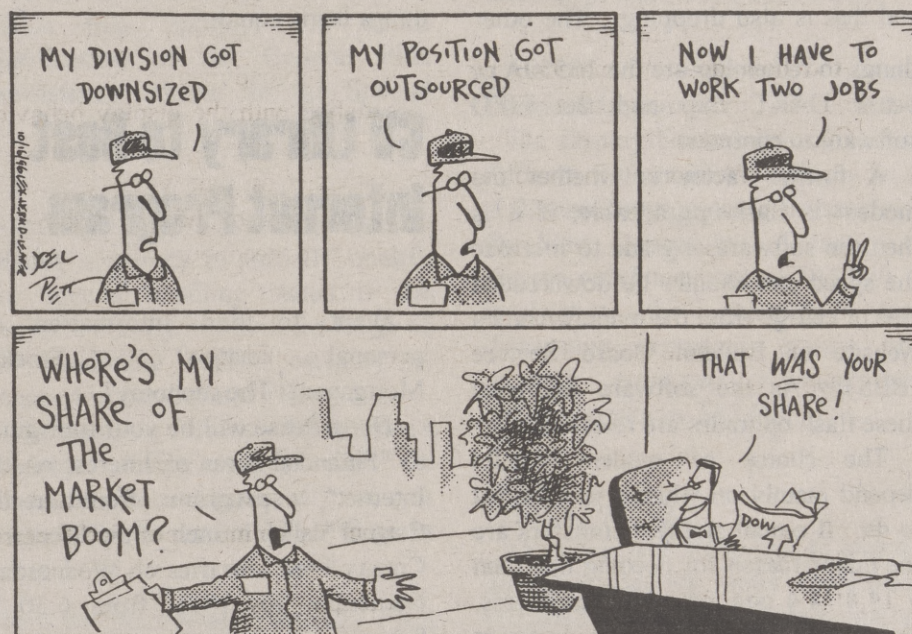

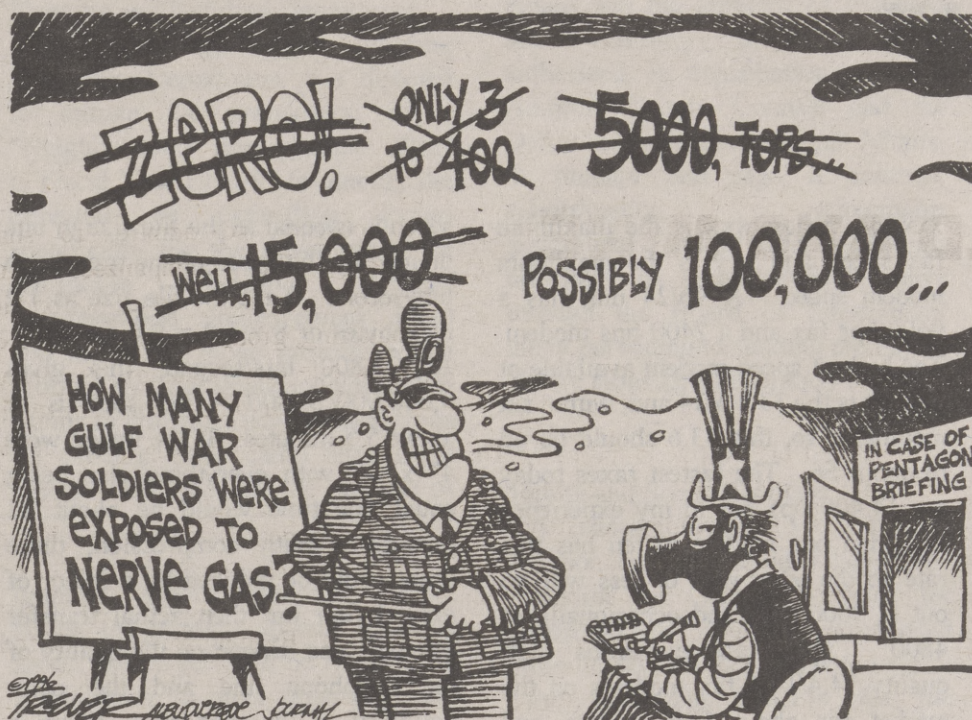

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

Those of us who have grown up in the valley or have lived here a long time have come to take for granted the open space that is the Carmel Valley Airport. Walkers, joggers, dogs - leashed and unleashed, kids on bikes and the occasional horseback riders have all come to out number the airplanes by a wide margin.

This peaceful co-existence has endured for decades. Lars de Jounge, now leasing the airfield from the Delfino family, has made it clear from the beginning that he wishes this tradition to continue, and I must take exception with the October 24th letter from Scott Daniel.

In an open letter sent to the community (and the Sun), in March of this year, Mr. de Jounge outlined a few simple guidelines for everyone to follow while continuing to enjoy the airfield as open space, and added, "We have already had to fence portions of the property to prevent the abuse of a few, and would prefer to let people enjoy the land as open space as they have in the past."

Such are not the words or actions of a "rude, self-serving individual" as Mr. Daniel suggests. Nothing requires Mr. de Jounge to continue to allow valley residents the freedom to walk, jog, or ride on the airport. As legal landlord of the property, he is entitled to fence off the land, control its use, and restrict access of any kind. He has chosen not to do this. Rather, he has extended to the village community a unique opportunity to enjoy the land as open space, while striving to make the property safer for everyone, Mr. Daniel's nephew included.

I have personally met Lars upon several occasions at the airfield and have found him to be a friendly, likeable, and enthusiastic individual. His concern for establishing an amiable relationship with the community is more than evident in his words and deeds and I for one believe he deserves our support.

Everyone in the Scott Daniels' family is invited to the C.V. Airfield on Saturday, the 14th of December, as Lars and Barbara de Jounge and the whole community welcome Santa Claus back to Carmel Valley.

Hunter Encourages Preservation of Rancho San Carlos

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

For a number of years I had the pleasure of belonging to a hunting club on Rancho San Carlos. I have hiked over every corner of that magnificent ranch, and I have seen first hand the beautiful redwoods, the oak savannahs and the open grasslands. I am realistic enough to realize that this huge ranch, which already consists of over a hundred separate parcels, could not be held together forever as a cattle ranch.

I was thrilled when I heard that the owners of the ranch had proposed to put 18,000 acres of the ranch in permanent managed open space, never to be developed. I was even more thrilled when the Board of Supervisors accepted their proposal.

Now we have a chance to ratify the plan by voting "yes" on Measure M. This is unquestionably the best thing that can happen with this ranch for the citizens of this county, and I hope everyone will be voting "Yes" on Measure M with me.

COMPUTER TALK

Val Healey

Part 32 - An introduction to computers at a naively simple level.

Modems are getting very much more sophisticated and now numerous makes and models can do the usual file transfers, faxing, and have multi-channel voice capabilities which makes them a kind of mini PBX. They can be programmed to announce to voice callers: press 1 for sales, press 2 for tech support, etc. and allow multiple "voice mailboxes" to be set up on the hard disk. In this way thousands of voice messages can be stored, with the size of the hard disk usually being the limiting factor.

Modems and faxes have slightly different calls and, if arrangements are made with the local telephone company to have a feature called "distinctive call" enabled, faxes and modem calls can be separated so that a single computer/modem can be used to receive them. Smart switch boxes and software are appearing that allow this to be done without involving the telephone company. Thus the one telephone line can support: voice-, fax- and modem- calls. This is one area that is developing at a very rapid pace and the era of the computer that is a telephone answering machine, fax, tv, video phone, etc., etc. in addition to a gaming machine, an educational machine, word processor, ad infinitum... is rapidly approaching.

Fax modems are designated xxx/yyy, where xxx is the maximum fax speed and yyy is the maximum modem speed. A 96/24 unit has a 9600 bps fax and a 2400 bps modem. The highest speed modem available at present is the 33.6 V34 and, within six months or so, this 33.6 should be up to about 56. The fastest faxes today are 14,400 bps but in my experience less than one modem in ten has this rate so the other nine or less will go out at 9600 bps, and occasionally at 4800. There are numerous high quality 14.4/14.4 fax modems on the market for about $80 or less and prices are declining. The highest priced 14.4/33.6 V34s are about $250 and that is also dropping. The other things to remember are the 16550A or better UART chip and the FIFO software to control it.

A further factor is whether the modem is flash-upgradeable; if it is then the software upgrade to increase the speed can usually be downloaded free of charge from the manufacturer's website or Bulletin Board Service (BBS). As the software improves these flash upgrades are released.

The choice of modem should depend mainly on what it is intended to do. If e-mail and text transfers are the major reason for needing one then a 14.4/14.4 one, or even a little less, should be adequate. If any significant level of image transfers are needed then, especially if any long distance calls are necessary, the fastest one available should be considered.

To look at transfer rates for images, take the example we had in Part 25 of the small image of about 2" x 2" that almost filled the 3.5" floppy disk. The time to transfer in seconds is equal to the file size in bits divided by the speed of the transfer in bits/second. Take the file size as 1.2 megabytes or $8 \times 1.2 = 9.6$ megabits. At 28,800 bits/second, this gives $9,600,000/28,800 = 333$ seconds or about 5.5 minutes. If the image were 4" x 4", with everything else being equal, the time would be about 22 minutes. With compression, these times could be reduced by a factor of around four but then actual transfer rate will also depend on the quality of the telephone line and the compatibility of the modems. Using a 14.4/14.4 modem would probably double these transfer times, other things being equal.

Hitting the Road With Leather and Fur

The annual toy run collects teddy bears for charity and drew over 100 bikers.

Over 100 bikers rode down Carmel Valley Road for the annual toy run.

By Elizabeth Cowley

Get your motor running Head out on the highway ... Looking for some teddy bears?

Teddy bears strapped to the handle bars of thundering Harley Davidson motorcycles ridden by leather clad bikers presents an interesting spectacle but that is indeed what one saw this Sunday, October 2, in front of the Running Iron Saloon in Carmel Valley.

About 100 bikers joined together for the annual toy run to collect teddy bears for local charities. The riders congregated at Kmart to purchase the teddy bears and then rode through Carmel Valley, stopping at the Running Iron, and then back to Laguna Grande Park in Seaside where the surrendering of a teddy bear gained access to a barbecue compliments of Costco. The teddy bears will be donated to children's hospitals, battered women's shelters and other charities. Linda Horning, Abate Motorcyclists Rights Organization member said, "They won't go to waste." Horning said over 500 bears were collected last year.

The annual toy run has been held for about 15 years as an informal collection of civic minded bikers but for the past two years the toy run has been organized and publicized through Abate Motorcyclists Rights Organization, Clean and Sober Motorcycle Club (CSMC) and Christian Motorcycle Association (CMA).

Mike McIntyre, President of Abate Motorcyclists Rights Organization Local 35, said his organization is "dedicated to the freedom of the road" and lobbies against legislation that limits bikers rights such as helmet laws, limits on engine size, and laws which seek to limit an owners right to perform maintenance on their own bike. Abate is also active in motorcycle safety education. Drew Webster, President of CSMC, said their club consists of former alcohol and substance abusers and to become a member one must not only have a motorcycle but have attended a 12-styep program and be clean and sober for over a year to become a patch holder.

The toy run draws bikers from Monterey County, San Jose, and Santa Cruz and due to their efforts many children will have teddy bears to snuggle with this holiday season.

Robin Cauntay Should be Librarian in Carmel Valley

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

What has happened to one of our librarians, Robin Cauntay, has happened to us all. Because we are a family. As an analogy, try to imagine the depth of the tragedy if an insensitive, aloof, and perhaps mad, interior decorator whom you have never met nor spoken with came into your house when you were not at home and removed your children, furniture, rugs, paintings, and the family pets. Then, when you returned home, you received a business like telephone call from this decorator informing you that new children, furnishings, and pets would be arriving at your house within three weeks and that you had no say whatsoever in this matter.

This is what happened to Robin Cauntay and to the Carmel Valley Library and its community.

Armed with this perspective, please try to imagine what you would do if someone took your children away. Yes, you'd fight with all your resources, with your very breath, to get them back. And so you are herewith put on notice. We the undersigned Carmel Valley Library community will not rest until justice has been served, until Robin Cauntay is permanently given the job for which she has given her heart and soul, her time and experience, her care, concern, and abilities. The job which is rightly hers. We will not be put off by inadequate excuses for the abrupt slap in the face you have given us by not consulting with us concerning one of our family.

Robin Cauntay has been working in the library system for over five years, without complaint but certainly with praise, including from you. Some would ask of you your reasons for choosing an outsider without consulting us, some would ask for this person's qualifications. We will not. Because we feel the hiring of someone other than Robin Cauntay was simply a back-handed, back-room operation that may have involved some form of favoritism. But even if it did not, we will not stand for the end result of your machinations nor for the nebulous way in which this whole matter has been handled.

Robin Cauntay Deserves Permanent Librarian Position

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

I am writing to inform the public of the changes being made at the Carmel Valley Library, concerning the position of permanent librarian.

Robin Cauntay, one of the two current librarians, has worked for Monterey County libraries for five years. She was assigned to her position at the Carmel Valley branch eighteen months ago as a temporary fill in. Robin has extremely good librarian and computer skills. She has used these skills to develop an excellent working relationship between the public library and its patrons.

Because my office is in the library building, I am able to see on a daily basis how well Robin interacts with the public, young and old. Everyday at least ten children go to the library after school to do their homework, wait for parents, read or use the computer. Robin has been instrumental in attaining a balance between these children enjoying the library and being respectful of other patrons. She is able to communicate in a way that encourages and inspires our children to use the library for its intended purpose.

Robin applied for the permanent position as one of thirty applicants. She made it through two cuts, became one of three choices for the job, then lost the placement to a person from San Francisco. It is my understanding that the selection process did not include a review of the work she does on a daily basis or comments from her co-workers and patrons of the library. Had this information been considered, Robin would have surely been their first choice.

It is obvious to me, considering how far Robin got in the application process, and having personal knowledge of her many successes, that the County should absolutely not be replacing her. She deserves, in fact, to be promoted to the position of permanent librarian.

It is my hope that the citizens of Carmel Valley will show their support and appreciation for the excellent job that Robin has done. Furthermore, we need to send a clear message to the County that their current hiring policies do not necessarily suit the best interest of the community.

wax ring, angle stop, plumbing permit, and/or installation by a licensed plumber. The initial goal is to retrofit at least 1640 residential toilets within the Cal-Am service area in single and multifamily residences. A property owner cannot receive both a $100 rebate and water credits for the retrofit. A property that is retrofitted under the rebate program will be eligible for the $100 rebate, but the water credit for that retrofit will be forfeited. A property owner who obtains a water permit utilizing retrofit credits has already received a reduction in the permit fee for installing ultra-low flow toilets and is not eligible for the $100 rebate. The program budget is $190,000 for fiscal year 1996-97, to be funded by the previously established MPWMD user fee that is collected from all Cal-Am customers on their bi-monthly bill. The administrative and advertising costs for this program have been greatly reduced, with $164,000 (86%) of the $190,000 budgeted amount slated for toilet rebates. District staff is working with Cal-Am on future joint funding of the retrofit rebate program and with the Monterey Regional Waste Management District for recycling of the old toilets. If adopted at the December 12 meeting, the ordinance would go into effect on January 14, 1997.

* Agreed to take action on recommendations developed during September 12 Board workshop.

At the September 12 workshop to enhance effectiveness and improve communications, the Board identified 36 leadership challenges which face the District, and brainstormed a series of sixty different means to overcome the identified challenges. It was recommended that three subcommittees be established to address the challenges and solutions identified by the Board. At the October 21 Board meeting, the following three-person subcommittees were established: 1. the Focus committee will act on proposed solutions to improve focus on District roles and goals; 2. the Communication committee will act on proposed solutions to improve District-public interaction as well as solutions to improve internal and external communications, and 3. the Leadership committee will act on proposed solutions to improve District leadership. The committees are scheduled to present their recommendations at the December 12 Board meeting.

* What to expect at the upcoming November 18 Board meeting:

1. The Board will consider first reading of a draft ordinance rescinding Ordinance No. 84 which authorized the allocation of 150 acre-feet of water made available through operation of the CAWD/PBCSD WRP. 2. The ad hoc committee will present the suggested ballot measures related to water supply planning that could be placed on the March 4, 1997 ballot. 3. Staff will present an analysis of the impacts to District operations associated with adoption of the "POWR" proposal. 4. A draft policy statement regarding the allocation of water previously set aside for drought protection and water conservation savings will be presented for Board consideration. The water supplies referred to in this policy will include the 358 acre-feet of water set aside from the Paralta Well in the Seaside

Coastal Basin for drought protection; 270 acre-feet remaining from the District's share of the CAWD/PBCSD WRP that was set aside to meet the District's long term water conservation goal; and approximately 1800 acre-feet of water conservation savings that have accrued since the District's water conservation program began in 1987. 5. The Board will consider adoption of the first reading version of Ordinance No. 85 that will define rules and standards for the District's proposed toilet retrofit rebate program.
